

Public Notice:

Thank you for taking time to read this statement and verifying the accuracy of the claims made about our facilities being used as UN storage facilities for a secret takeover operation. I am Ted McGowan and have been the Executive Director of Reynolds Park since 1998. We are a leasing and property management business overseeing the 700,000 square feet of industrial buildings, 4 miles of piers and bulkhead, golf course, marina, private runway and ground storage facilities known as Reynolds Park.

Reynolds Park is a 45 year old industrial park located on a former WWII Navy Base that was decommissioned in 1962, sold to the City of Green Cove Springs and then to private owners in 1965. It leases facilities to private companies who operate a variety of businesses on the facilities. Those facilities include the former and current runways in place since 1941. The active runway operates as a private use facility. The inactive runways have been used for brake testing and development, storage trailer parking, police training, bus driver training, motorcycle school training and car parking of imported vehicles.

Regarding the recent claims that United Nation's vehicles have been secretly stored on the private runways in Green Cove Springs, I assure you that those claims are not true and have been fabricated as a hoax and practical joke.

I have watched the original video. The claims that the person has made are completely fabricated. The Google maps images are correct. The actual vehicles (pictured below) were stored here by an auto processing company. This company imports Kia automobiles through the port of Brunswick and stores and processes them in preparation for distribution to dealers through the southeast. Unfortunately, they are no longer a tenant of ours.

The company storing Kia's here was a tenant of ours for two years until the federal "Cash For Clunkers" program absorbed their inventory and they no longer needed the storage space available at Reynolds Park. The vehicles are imported with white plastic film on them as a protective covering. They did not have "UN" posted on the roofs. I don't know if the UN places the letters on the roof of all their vehicles or not but the vehicles in the video are real but the vehicles here never had UN on their roofs.

I thank you for taking time to read this statement and stand by my statement that the claims made about the vehicles stored at Reynolds Park are UN vehicles and any other conspiratorial claims made about any of our other former or current tenants and facilities are false.

If you have a legitimate business need to start or grow a business and require industrial building space or other facilities that we provide, please contact our Senior Property Manager, John Brown, to find out how we can serve you and make your business successful.

Sincerely,

Ted McGowan, Executive Director, Reynolds Park

(above) Facing east.

(above) Runway 27 facing west as the sun sets on 3/30/2009.